

BirdNest Exhibits at WEFTEC

(Houston TX -- November 2005) BirdNest Services, Inc. put BirdTools on display at WEFTEC 05 in Washington DC during the last week of October. WEFTEC, sponsored by the Water Environment Federation, attracts a wide spectrum of vendors and users of equipment and systems for managing water production for its 100+ technical sessions and two-dozen workshops.

We were thrilled with the response we received as a first-time exhibitor at WEFTEC. We attracted attention from such companies as United Water, American Water and many local and nationwide municipal public works departments, said Mary White, Director of Sales and Marketing. "It was a very rewarding experience for us and we look forward to participating in WEFTEC 06 in Dallas, Texas next October."

Houston-based BirdNest Services offers a time and money saving tool to improve workforce efficiency by reducing the amount of time spent handling data in the field and office. Workers use a cell phone to input data anytime, anywhere and securely transfers it to your desktop. BirdTools is designed not only to make collecting data easier but also delivering it to you in a format that gives you greater flexibility in responding to that data, whether to generate compliance or operational reports, take preventive measures or respond to emergencies.
